

Warranty Policy

In consideration of the products and services provided as part of any Program we offer, you agree to pay National Women's Holistic Lifestyle Institute which is powered by Anew Perspective, LLC, the applicable amount(s) as described on the Registration Form for the Program. The Program must be paid for in full before any products, services or other benefits of the Program will be provided to you, including sending materials or starter kits, attendance at in-person events, and/or scheduling or holding coaching sessions. In addition, if you deviate from any payment terms that may be agreed to by you and Anew Perspective, LLC after the commencement of the Program, all Program products and services will be suspended until payment is made. However, suspension of Program products and services does not release you from responsibility for fulfilling all payment obligations.

Unless otherwise provided in the applicable Terms and Conditions for a particular Program or in the Registration Form for said Program, due to the nature of our Programs you cannot cancel or receive a refund for a Program or any component event regardless of whether you attend the event or not.
